Deceased

ANSWERING

AFFIDAVIT

AARON R. FROSCHE, being duly sworn deposes and says,

I refer to the pending proceeding before Surrogate's Court, County of New York, in regard to establishing ownership of certain transparencies of MARILYN MONROE, Deceased, of whose Estate, I am Executor.

I am informed that Affidavit in reply to the moving papers of TOM KELLEY by LEE STRASBERG will be filed with this Court, upon his return from California.

By telephone, I was informed by Mr. Strasberg, he is in no position to determine whether, as Distributee of the personal effects of MARILYN MONROE that he is legatee of all rights in the transparencies, or only the physical photographs and transparencies. He states, however, while in California he had the opportunity to bring the subject to the attention of various persons who were associated with Miss Monroe during her lifetime. They informed him that the said transparencies were purchased by Miss Monroe from Mr. Kelley and that she so stated to them. Mr. Strasberg's comment also reflected his confusion as to why Miss Monroe would have borrowed the transparencies themselves as distinguished from the photographs.

the person so served to be the person mentioned and described in said papers as the Sworn to before me, this herein, by delivering a true copy thereof to "personally dependent upon the therein.

 day of 19

In short, Mr. Strasberg does not waive any position in regard to his rights to the said transparencies but brings to the attention of the Court, that the question exists as to whether said transparencies were owned by Miss Monroe at the time of her death, and if so, they were assets of the Estate.

The two persons who seemed knowledgeable on the subject, with whom Mr. Strasberg spoke, are, Mr. Ralph Roberts, a resident of California and Miss May Reese, who is now sojourning in Mexico.

As Executor of the Estate of Marilyn Monroe, Deceased, I will appreciate the Court reaching a decision in relation to the said photographs as I am informed they may become valueless with time effect thereon.

One thing is certain, the Estate cannot retain the photographs. Mr. Strasberg recognizes the fact, that as Distributee of the personal effects, he may be entitled solely to the physical photographs and transparencies. The question remains as to who is the owner of rights thereto. If they were owned by the Decedent at the time of her death, the Estate would be ^{Owner} And if so, perhaps Mr. Kelley wishes to purchase them. I am informed they have little value in today's photography market.

If Mr. Kelley can provide sufficient substantiation of his ownership thereof, certainly the Court should award rights in said photographs to him, even if Mr. Strasberg is entitled as Distributee, to retain the physical transparencies.

Sworn to before me this 1st day of January, 1973.

SCHEDULE A—REAL ESTATE

Real estate should be so described that it may be readily located. Give town or city, map, lot, block and section numbers, and place of record of deed. State the exact right, title or interest the decedent had in every parcel of real estate. The full valuation of the property and not the equity must be given. The mortgages should be deducted under Schedule L. Show also, with respect to each parcel of property, the assessed valuation thereof, and furnish the estimated market value at the date of death. Attach appraisal made by a competent real estate appraiser.

Real property which the decedent has contracted to purchase should be listed in this schedule. The full value of the property and not the equity must be shown. The unpaid portion of the purchase price should be deducted under Schedule K.

The value of dower and courtesy is taxable, and no reduction on account thereof or on account of homestead or other exemptions should be made in returning the value of the real estate.

All rents accrued and unpaid should be apportioned to the date of death, whether due at that time or not.

SCHEDULE B—STOCKS AND BONDS

Description.—Description of stocks should indicate number of shares, whether common or preferred, issue, par value, price per share, exact name of corporation, and, if not listed on a stock exchange, the post-office address of the principal business office, the State in which incorporated, and the date of incorporation. If listed, state principal exchange upon which sold. Description of bonds should include quantity and denomination, name of obligor, kind of bond, date of maturity, interest rate, and interest-due dates. State the exchange upon which listed, or if unlisted the principal business office of the company.

Valuation.—In the case of stocks and bonds listed on a stock exchange the mean between the highest and lowest quoted selling prices on the date of death shall be considered as the fair market value per share or bond. If there were no sales on the date of death, such value shall be determined by taking the mean between the highest and lowest sales on the nearest date before and the nearest date after the date of death (both such nearest dates being within a reasonable period), and by prorating the difference between such mean prices to the date of death, and by adding or subtracting, as the case may be, such prorated portion of the difference to or from the mean price obtaining on such nearest date before the date of death. For example, assume that sales of stock nearest the date of death (June 15) occurred 2 days before (June 13) and 3 days after (June 18) and that on such days the mean sale prices per share were $10 and $15, respectively. The price of $12 shall be taken as representing the fair market value of a share of such stock as of the date of death. If, however, on June 13 and 18 the mean sale prices per share were $15 and $10, respectively, the price of $13 shall be taken as representing the fair market value of a share of such stock as of the date of death. If the security was listed on more than one exchange, the records of the exchange where the security is principally dealt in should be employed. In valuing listed stocks and bonds the executor should observe care to consult accurate records to obtain values as of the date of death.

Dividends declared on shares of stock prior to the death of the decedent but payable to stockholders of record on a date after his death are not includable in his gross estate for estate tax purposes. However, in a case where the stock is being traded on an exchange and is selling ex-dividend on the date of the decedent's death, the amount of the dividend should not be included in the gross estate as a separate item but should be added to the ex-dividend quotation in determining the fair market value of the stock as of the date of the decedent's death.

In the case of stocks and bonds which are not listed upon an exchange, but are dealt in through brokers or have a market, the fair market value shall be determined by taking the mean between the highest and lowest selling prices as of the date of death; or, if there were no sales on that date, such value shall be determined by taking the mean between the highest and lowest sales on the nearest date before and the nearest date after the date of death (both such nearest dates being within a reasonable period), and by prorating the difference between such mean prices to the date of death, and by adding or subtracting, as the case may be, such prorated portion of the difference to or from the mean price obtaining on such nearest date before the date of death. If quotations are obtained from brokers, or evidence as to the sale of securities is obtained from the officers of the issuing companies, copies of the letters furnishing such quotations or evidence of sale should be attached to the return.

If actual sales are not available during a reasonable period beginning before and ending after the date of death, the fair market value may be determined by taking the mean between the bona fide bid and asked prices on the nearest date before and the nearest date after the date of death (both such nearest dates being within a reasonable period), and by prorating the difference between such mean prices to the date of death, and by adding or subtracting, as the case may be, such prorated portion of the difference to or from the mean price obtaining on such nearest date before the date of death. If actual sale prices or quoted bona fide bid and asked prices are available on a date within a reasonable period prior to the date of death, but if no actual sale prices or bona fide bid and asked prices are available on a date within a reasonable period after the date of death, or vice versa, then the mean between such highest and lowest available sale prices or bid and asked prices may be taken as the value.

Inactive unlisted stock and stock in close corporations should be valued upon the basis of the company's net worth and earning capacity. Attach to each set of schedules balance sheets and earning statements of such companies for five years preceding the date of death. If there were any sales of these securities within a reasonable period before or after the date of death, furnish a statement of such sales, showing the number of shares sold and the prices at which sold.

Securities returned as of no value or of nominal value should be listed last and a statement furnished of the reasons for returning them as of no value or of nominal value.

Accrued interest on bonds should be computed to the date of death and reported separately.

Community Property. If a decedent died after April 18, 1943, a transfer of property held as community property by the decedent and surviving spouse under the law of any state, territory, or possession of the United States, or any foreign country, shall be considered to have been made by the decedent, except such part thereof as may be shown to have been received as compensation for personal services actually rendered by the surviving spouse or derived originally from such compensation or from separate property of the surviving spouse. This reference to community property applies not only to Schedule B but also to Schedules C, E, F and G.

SCHEDULE C—MORTGAGES, NOTES AND CASH

The five classes of property in this schedule should be listed separately in the order given.

Mortgages. State (1) the face value and the unpaid balance (2) the date of mortgage, (3) the name of maker, (4) property mortgaged, (5) interest date and rate of interest, (6) the date to which interest was paid, and (7) date of maturity. Add accrued interest to date of death.

Notes. Give similar data.

Contract by Decedent to Sell Land. Give name of vendee, date of contract, description of property, sale price, initial payment, amounts of installment payments, unpaid balance of principal and accrued interest, interest rate, and date prior to decedent's death to which interest had been paid.

Cash in Possession. List separately from bank deposits.

Cash in Bank. Give name of bank and address, amount in bank, accrued interest, if any.

SCHEDULE D—INSURANCE

Insurance. Include all insurance upon the life of the decedent, stating whether payable to the estate or to a named beneficiary. For annuities, see instructions under Schedule I.

SCHEDULE E—JOINTLY OWNED PROPERTY

All property of whatever kind or character, whether real estate, personal property, bank accounts, etc., in which the decedent held at the time of his death an interest either as a joint tenant, a tenant by the entirety or as an owner of community property, must be returned under this schedule.

The full value of the property must be included, unless it can be shown that a part of the property originally belonged to the other tenant or tenants and was never received or acquired by the other tenant or tenants from the decedent for less than a fair consideration in money or money's worth.

Where it is shown that the property or any part thereof, or any part of the consideration with which the property was purchased, was acquired by the other tenant or tenants from the decedent for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth, there should be omitted from this schedule only so much of the value of the property as is proportionate to the consideration furnished by such other tenant or tenants.

Where the property was acquired by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance by the decedent and spouse as tenants by the entirety, then only one-half of the value of the property should be listed on this schedule. Where the property was acquired by the decedent and another person or persons by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance as joint tenants, and their interest are not otherwise specified or fixed by law then there should be entered on this schedule only such fractional part of the value of the property as is obtained by dividing the full value of the property by the number of joint tenants.

If the executor contends that less than the value of the entire property is includable in the gross estate for purposes of the tax, the burden is upon him to show his right to include such lesser value; and in such case he should make proof of the extent, origin, and nature of the decedent's interest and the interest of decedent's co-tenant or co-tenants.

If the property consists of real estate, the assessed valuation thereof for the year of death should be shown, and the estimated market value as of the date of death should be furnished, supported by an appraisal made by a competent real estate appraiser.

Property in which the decedent held an interest as a tenant in common should not be listed here but the value of his interest therein should be returned under Schedule A if real estate, or if personal property under the appropriate schedule. The value of the decedent's interest in a partnership should be reported under Schedule F.

SCHEDULE F—OTHER MISCELLANEOUS PROPERTY

Under this schedule include all items of gross estate not returned under another schedule, including the following: Debts due the decedent, interests in business, claims, rights, royalties, pensions, leaseholds, judgments, shares in trusts, funds or estates of other decedents, household goods and personal effects including wearing apparel, farm products and growing crops, livestock, farm machinery, automobiles, etc.

When an interest in a copartnership or unincorporated business is returned, submit statement of assets and liabilities as of date of death and for the five years preceding death, and statement of the net earnings for the same five years, also salary of decedent. Good will must be accounted for.

In listing automobiles, give make, model, year, and condition as of date of decedent's death.
